Q: Using reflection for getting all attributes I have a method like this:

```
private void printAttrs( final Attributes attr ){
    System.out.print( attr.getName( ) + " " );
    System.out.print( attr.getType( ) );

 How could I efficiently get all Attributes in my project? I tried Project.getAttributes(), however there is no such method in Eclipse.

A: Reflection API gives you low level access to classes, instances and packages. You can get the list of top level objects (packages, classes, interfaces, etc.) easily. To get a list of all fields of a class, you need to iterate through the list of the class elements. Or as I'm sure you don't have a class called Attributes, you could create a class that implements the Attribute interface and make it available to the project.
