The ultimate team mode keeps you in the game for hours on end as you build your own dream squad. Choose your team from a pool of 25 current and former real players from over 40 countries, with every single one being available to FIFA Ultimate Team. Over 11,000 players will be available in FIFA 22. New Defensive & Attacking Tactics Tactical Defending and Attacking, Dynamic Tactics, New Coaching Experience FIFA 22 introduces tactical defending and attacking, where players react and adapt to their opponents' play. Players will also dynamically learn each other's playstyles over time with Tactical AI, while coaches in the post-match analysis screen can watch for and evaluate their teams' deficiencies. Dynamic Tactics (DT) aims to provide both the smallest and the largest objectives with less passes and more direct plays, while removing the predictability of static positional play in order to create better, more realistic football. In order to tackle this challenge, DT divides the pitch into three zones: central, under pressure, and open space. The pitch is divided into eight positions. Dynamic Tactics (DT) creates a new flexibility for individual players and teams in the direction of their play. Its focus is on unpredictability. The aim is to change the play style and play pattern of your opponent. In the build-up phase of the tactical play, unpredictable free-kicks, long balls to far-post runs, long ball games, short goal kicks, kicks and long balls are applied to win the ball back quickly. The open space scenario allows a player to dribble freely and perform agile runs. Dynamic Tactics (DT) is backed up by a new analysis system which shows whether a player's performance fits the DT playstyle. Coach AI (CAI) will use Soccer AI (SAI) in the build-up phase to set up the play, analyse the play of the opponent, and decide where to send the players. SAI chooses between long and short passes with support of CAI, depending on where players can make an impact and how the ball will be played. If CAI has determined that it is necessary to send the ball to a player, CAI tries to give the ball to the appropriate player through the eyes of SAI. If SAI thinks a tactic is appropriate, CAI uses this to set up the correct play. If CAI thinks SAI is wrong, it interrupts the play and sends the ball to another player. The built-in new coach AI (CAI)
